

D. V. THURNESS, MAYOR-ELECT OF LOGAN

A Spirited Contest Gave Democratic Party the Best of It.

Tuesday's election in Logan was spirited, and certainly did bring out a nice vote. The Democrats won Mayor, Marshal, two councilmen out of six, an entire Board of Waterworks trustees, two assessors out of four; Republicans won Treasurer, Clerk, four councilmen out of six, and two assessors.

The Republican leaders put up lots of money and made every effort to defeat Mr. Thurness, Democratic nominee for Mayor, but he pulled through by a clean 70. Also Marshal Shively had a hard fight seemingly, but rounded up a nice 86 majority.

We regret to have the figures show us that Charley Smith and Rudolph Brown are defeated for Clerk and Treasurer, respectively. They would have made good officers. The people had their pencils with them this year and did some awful scratching.

We saved two councilmen and a full board of Water Works Trustees, and two assessors.

The village officers for two years beginning January 1, 1908, will be Mayor, D. V. Thurness; Marshal, Augustus Shively; Treasurer, G. W. Pullen; Clerk, Fred Grove; Councilmen, E. B. Comly, H. B. Bay, C. W. James, John Daugherty, Fred Stracke and John Canty; Water Works Board, Scott Braddock, Fred Hildebrand and Lewis Hartman; Assessors, First ward, J. S. Shaw; Second ward, Levi Black; Third ward, John Sterling; Fourth ward, Andy Inboden.

In Falls township, the Democrats got some of the best of it. Samuel Blum and Adam Poling were both elected Trustees; Roland Bright was elected Clerk; J. H. Carnes, Constable; Eph Shultz, Assessor. The Republicans were successful in electing Chas. Oaks, Treasurer; and Fred Naile, Justice of the Peace.

Taking it all together we won out pretty well in this election, capturing the executive officers of Logan and those of the township. We regret that we lost our good candidates for Treasurer and Clerk of Logan, and some good men for councilmen, and also our good candidate for Township Treasurer, Lige Bright, but there is no use "crying over spilled milk." We will get up again and go at it all the harder.

The principle fight was for Mayor between D. V. Thurness, Democrat, and E. O. Pettit, Republican, and the election of Thurness was really the Democratic victory of most importance to the party.

GOOD HOPE.

Mr. Editor:—
I wish through the columns of your paper, to thank the voters of Logan for standing by me at the last election, especially those who thought I would make a good Councilman. I start on my annual tour of Europe, January 8th, and will visit the battle fields of Waterloo, Sedan Port Arthur and other noted places, and am glad I will not have the burden of the beautiful city of Logan on my shoulders. Once more thanking the voters and the DEMOCRAT-SENTINEL for the many kindnesses I am
Sincerely Yours

THE BUILDING OF THE FALLS MILL BRIDGE.

The case of the State of Ohio, in relation of Charles Stevens against the County Commissioners of Hocking county to enjoin the building of the Falls Mill bridge, under the contract given by the Board of Commissioners to Fauver & Renick, of Dayton, was heard in the Common Pleas Court, Friday, by the Hon. George E. Martin, on the testimony and the records, and a temporary injunction was allowed.

The petition of the plaintiff was to the effect that the bridge this side of the Falls Mill was washed away in the March flood which necessitated the rebuilding of it and also the making of a fill there. That prior to letting a contract for the building of the bridge the county surveyor made his plans and specifications for the work, but did so in an inaccurate manner. That a notice to bidders for the work of constructing the bridge and making the fill was not made in such a manner as to allow a bidder to accurately figure the cost of the work and that the notice was not published for the required length of time.

To these charges the commissioners pleaded not guilty and consequently the case was tried on the testimony on Friday.

The testimony showed that Chas. Stevens had put in a bid for the building of the bridge, and that the contract was not awarded to him for the reason that his bid was not the lowest and best bid.

The building of this bridge being an urgent necessity the county

Falls Mill Bridge.

The case of the State of Ohio, in relation of Charles Stevens against the County Commissioners of Hocking county to enjoin the building of the Falls Mill bridge, under the contract given by the Board of Commissioners to Fauver & Renick, of Dayton, was heard in the Common Pleas Court, Friday, by the Hon. George E. Martin, on the testimony and the records, and a temporary injunction was allowed.

The petition of the plaintiff was to the effect that the bridge this side of the Falls Mill was washed away in the March flood which necessitated the rebuilding of it and also the making of a fill there.

That prior to letting a contract for the building of the bridge the county surveyor made his plans and specifications for the work, but did so in an inaccurate manner.

That a notice to bidders for the work of constructing the bridge and making the fill was not made in such a manner as to allow a bidder to accurately figure the cost of the work and that the notice was not published for the required length of time.

To these charges the commissioners pleaded not guilty and consequently the case was tried on the testimony on Friday.

The testimony showed that Chas. Stevens had put in a bid for the building of the bridge, and that the contract was not awarded to him for the reason that his bid was not the lowest and best bid.

The building of this bridge being an urgent necessity the county commissioners took counsel with the Assistant Attorney General in relation to advertising for bids for the work, and through a misunderstanding and misapprehension, upon his advice, only advertised for the bids for the contract three weeks in the three county newspapers of Logan, which did not conform to the requirements of Section 795 R. S., which provides that bids for public work shall be advertised for four consecutive weeks.

The County Commissioners seem to have acted in good faith and were earnestly endeavoring to have the bridge built at the earliest possible date, and the real reason for the delay of the matter, up until this time, was due to the fact that the bridge is located on the State's property, and the State did not agree until recently to bear the expense of building said bridge.

As the matter now stands, the case will probably consume considerable time, which will prevent the building of the bridge until the summer of 1908, as the County Commissioners have decided to build a concrete arch bridge, which cannot be constructed in the freezing months of winter.

The court said in rendering his decision that the evidence disclosed clearly that the board of County Commissioners had acted in all sincerity and in good faith, and were, therefore, in no wise to blame, under the advice given them by the Assistant Attorney General of the state.

Concerning the Financial Situation.

Prosperous times, the times of much money, are also the periods of much debt-making; and the recent little touch of financial crisis was only a faint cry of "stop a moment" and let us see if the debts are not getting out of proportion to the property.

It was only a little opportunity that the country took to consult its hygiene, and see if the laws of commercial health were all being observed. It was found that they were not; that some of the organs were not working right, and that the business appetite was being fostered by too much stimulant.

This situation, as in distempers of any kind, suggested a little rest and the quiet recognition, for awhile, of the injunction of the simple life. This is what the great railroads mean by abstaining from new construction, just at present, and doing only what is actually needed. This course is being followed by great enterprises all the country.

This action will be felt all through our trade and industry. But we should not repine; and if there should be a little less work and less money for awhile, we should regard the discomforts as only the processes of restoration, just as it happens to a man, who has eaten too much or indulged himself unwisely, when he subjects himself to more moderate desires.

There are some comforting circumstances in the situation. A business agent of a great Eastern firm received instructions to make some important concessions in his prices. This is only doing what the meat packers have done, recognizing the fact that the people are about to protest against the reign of exorbitant prices.

So, the worst experience we are going to have, as a result of the "crisis," is the tuning up of the system, and that might be a great benefit, even if we didn't have to.

Land Owners Must Swear out Warrant.

"The prosecuting attorney of any county in the state, or even the attorney general, have no right to cause the arrest of a hunter, during the hunting season, for violating the rules of any individual property owner." Such was the substance of a decision handed down in Circuit court at Columbus.

The decision was brought about by the arrest of Charles Ekhardt for shooting game on the premises of Alice Hamway by ex-Game Warden Charles Heil during the season of 1906. The court further stated that no officer had any right to arrest a hunter for such an offense without having a permit signed by the owner of the premises. Ekhardt was fined $10 and costs for the alleged offense before a justice.

Busy Grand Jury at Lancaster.

The Fairfield county grand jury did a land office business during its sitting which ended on Thursday evening. One hundred and thirteen true bills were found by that body. A majority of these cases originated from the wide open town which was permitted during the fair. The gamblers were allowed full sway up until Friday evening when the tip went out to the knights of the green cloth from official circles that they must close. This caused consternation among the gamblers, but they obeyed. The grand jury has now finished the work and several prominent business people of that town will be hauled into court for gambling and allowing gambling on their premises.

Traction Proposition.

On Wednesday the Board of Trade and citizens of Logan met at the Mayor's office to hear traction proposition at the hands of Mr. Ambick, Mr. Gillette and Mr. George Ridenour, of Athens county. Mr. Foster of Athens was also present.

What the traction promoters want is an organization of a local Traction Company to secure rights-of-way through Hocking county, the local company to hold stock certificates for their right-of-way investments. The company that is to finance this proposition is well rated, and it looks like a good thing. The board of trade adjourned to meet in a few days at call of President and will take the matter up. A company can well be organized here and the proposition go through.
